A letter to the CCISD Community

Dear Clear Creek ISD Resident,

The Clear Creek Independent School District prides itself on its long-standing tradition of educational excellence for all students and exceptional stewardship of our taxpayers' dollars. As a testament to our continuous academic accolades and fiscal management awards, families move into Clear Creek ISD because they want and deserve the very best education for their children.

On average, our school district's enrollment has increased between 900 to 1,000 new students each year, which is equivalent to one intermediate school. This trend is projected to last through 2020 when our district reaches build-out. In 14 short years, our district will be educating more than 52,000 students. Today, we are serving 35,500 students.

As our district continues to face the many challenges associated with rapid growth, our Board of Trustees unanimously called for a bond referendum set for May 12, 2007, in the amount of $183 million to fund:

- Construction of new schools: one high school, one intermediate school and two elementary schools
- Conversion of two ninth grade centers back to intermediate schools
- Increasing the number of math and science classrooms at all high schools (The Texas Legislature passed a bill in 2006 requiring all students to take four years of math and science.)
- Adding buses to the bus fleet/replacing aging buses 23+ years old
- Replacing aged air conditioning systems throughout the district

- Expanding safety and security equipment throughout the district
- Replacing roofs throughout the district

To ensure our district continues to use tax funds wisely, the Board formed a Citizens' Bond Planning Committee to review the district's Long-Range Strategic Plan, demographic information and financial data including the Maintenance and Operations (M&O) budget in order to provide input on a May 2007 bond referendum.

These dedicated citizens have spent countless hours asking tough questions and providing valuable feedback to the district's administration on what the Bond 2007 package should include.

We encourage you to read through this pamphlet to learn more about the Bond 2007 package. Citizens who have additional questions about the Bond 2007 Referendum can contact any Board member or the district's administration.

We stand ready to answer your questions.
